A few hours later, the dealer told me he couldn't take the car off my hands, it was already sold and would I like to sell it for him. I was wondering what to do. The customer moved the car away from the road, made it very dark, switched on the car and started the engine. Then suddenly a car with a policeman started chasing him, he slowed down and came to a stop. The Italian showâ��sâ��

Short answer- Yes Long answer- The main difference between the 2013+ and 2012 models is that 2013 models have the "2013" indicator light. The 2012 model has the "00" indicator light. This indicator is on the glove box and is located on the top of the glove box panel. It is molded into the panel and is non-removable. The 2012 model glove box does not have the "2013" indicator light on it. You can purchase a replacement for the "2013" indicator on most parts vendors. You will have to find the supplier that has the newest "2013" molded in. I would post this to the "2013+" forum as well, however it is not a "2013+" indicator. Hope this helps.
